Our Mission
The NAPFA Women’s Initiative (“WI”) strives to attract, support, educate, and develop women as leaders within the financial advisory profession and to raise the awareness of the need for more female advisors. We work toward this mission by building a community of women advisors, providing programs at NAPFA events, attracting media attention through articles in financial publications, and providing networking, advocacy, and mentorship opportunities to women.

WAYS TO BE INVOLVED IN THE WOMEN’S INITIATIVE

Women’s Initiative Membership
If you are a female member of NAPFA, you are already a member of the Women’s Initiative! With this membership, you can find support, collaboration, and professional development within a community of women advisors. Membership allows you to participate in and contribute to conversation circles and webinars, the women’s reception at NAPFA’s annual Conference, and the WI Facebook group for discussion.

We are all mentors and mentees, learning from each other, and we offer scholarships to up-and-coming women advisors. We are a tribe of women with the goal of lifting one another up, especially when we may not have that support in our own firms and everyday work experience.

Participation means joining in, contributing your stories and experiences, and considering Committee or Subcommittee membership.

Committee Membership
NAPFA’s Women’s Initiative Committee is comprised of a minimum of 5, but not more than 10 members, including at least one NAPFA staff representative.

The Committee seeks members that are representative of the NAPFA membership. Currently, all Committee Members are female. The Committee reserves the right to include male members if deemed appropriate by a majority of the Committee Members.
